WHY BOW TO HIM?

It was demonstrated last election day that John L. Lewis could not carry organized labor to the party of his choosing. Mr. Lewis pleaded with labor to vote for Willkie. No doubt Willkie got the vote of many union members, but no political report would claim that labor as a voting unit deserted Roosevelt. Why should Lewis be tolerated now? He is free, in a democracy, to seek the full measure of benefit for his union. But he is not free to defy his sovereign government and to cause its union to strike against the American flag! The State and Scripps flies over the coal mines. A walk-out is desertion of the flag. Frankly, its a newspaper does not pretend to pass judgment on the merits of the dispute between the miners union and the government. But we do submit that where the umpire rules, his decision must stand. Otherwise the game is over. It is in unwilling to abide by the decisions of those in authority that has made John L. Lewis so unpopular with the American people. Lewis is his own worst enemy. He can plead the case of the American way, or be put out.

MIGHTY EVENTS

We have been experiencing the lull before the storm. After the victory in Tunisia, a vast gathering of men and equipment had to be undertaken before the next thrust. The next thrust may be only a few hours or days; certainly it will be within a week. Be not fooled by the lull. Work, sacrifice, pray that we will acquit ourselves well.

PORCH SITTING

The old timers will say that in the days before automobiles, sitting on the porch or verandah was one of the popular summer pleasures. It may become popular this summer, because of automobile restrictions. And old times the women enjoyed hours thus spent in the open air, which was invigorating after their hot kitchens or limited indoor ventilation.

In quiet communities it was pleasant to see the people go by. The horse and buggy outfits with some high-stepping animals, and faithful working beasts that pulled heavy loads, were interesting. Where a lady was sitting out on the porch, the neighbors were more apt to drop in, and pleasant hours of talk were passed.

The men enjoyed sitting on the porch in the evening. They smoked and read newspapers. If the neighbors came to sit with them there were long talks on politics and business and sports. If there were scandals in the town, they were not overlooked.

The young people would frequently gather on these porches. Some one might bring out a banjo or guitar, and they would sing "There Was A Tavern In The Town," "Swanee River," etc. The jolly laughter with snatches of song gave the town a social atmosphere.

When automobiles became common, porch sitting became less of a habit. Sitting still in one place seemed like dull work to many folks. The joy of motion was not satisfied by the swing of the rocking chairs. It gradually took more and more miles an hour to satisfy the wish for speed. People liked to go places and see new things.

The porch sitting habit had some advantages, as people may discover this summer. At least it meant a restful evening left people with quiet minds ready for sleep, and was good preliminary to the next day's work.—Peninsula Enterprise.

RETAIL TRADE BOOMS

Fears have been felt as to how retail trade would stand up under hard wartime conditions, with many kinds of merchandise short, and difficulties in getting and keeping help. Recent commercial reports indicate this retail trade has been brisk. Department store sales on a nation wide basis for the first 15 weeks of the year were 11 per cent above the same period of last year.

While conditions vary in different places, the American people have more money to spend than ever before. Many of them are spending it too freely, but at least by spending it they help retail trade get by present difficulties. Many of the things they want may be short or not be had. The store people are showing ingenuity in getting things which the people want to buy.

It is satisfactory to note that the number of business failures in January was the lowest on record for that month. A time when money is circulating so freely is a good time for routine to advertise its goods.—Peninsula Enterprise.

TELLING THE TRUTH

A recent trade journal came to my attention with an article on the dividends paid by untiful advertising. The article concluded by saying: "It seems to me that some cosmetic manufacturer making a good and reasonably priced item might attract a large number of realistic women by advertising: 'This (perfume, lipstick, brassiere, soap, deodorant, mouthwash) won't make you irresistible but it will help you to get by.'"

Jargon is not unknown in Wall Street, and financial writers often use vague and pompous phrases to express a simple idea. Suppose a sensible man writes to a friend, "Business has suffered a setback, but not a slump. You can understand the causes by studying recent events." That is intelligible and neatly expressed.

But here is how a highly-paid professional phrased it: "That general business has not retained all of its former impressive buoyancy is evidenced by current trends in several directions, but there is obviously a sharp distinction between moderate recession and fundamental unsoundness, if the rate of activity has not been wholly sustained, the change can be properly interpreted only through recognition of what has gone before, and the attainments of various maximum records if of too recent occurance to be obscured by present tendencies."

That is like whipping an ounce of castile soap into a bushel of suds.—Imperial Magazine.

HORSES ARE BRINGING FANCY PRICES

Richmond, June 2. (By VPA)—Not so long ago town said the horse would never come back to replace the automobile, but gasoline shortages have changed this picture and Old Dobbin has returned to his own again!

The demand for horses and mules has created a boom in the livestock market at Danville with many first class animals suitable particularly for use in horsedrawn delivery vehicles selling as high as $350 each. Untrained horses and mules, although not as plentiful as they once were, are also bringing top prices on the Danville market.

BLACK MARKET CAUSE OF LEATHER SCARCITY

Harness, saddles, bridles and repair leather should be conserved. The black market in meat has cost the loss [illegible] of hides during the past four months, and combined with the lack of ships from South America the leather shortage for farm use is becoming acute, says the Virginia USDA War Board.

Besides actual food lost through black markets such as hearts, kidneys, livers, tongues, sweetbreads, and other edible parts, strategic by products are wasted from which such materials are made as surgical sutures, adrenalin, insulin, gelatin for military photographs, tankage, fertilizers and bone meal, and rendering fats.

Under wartime operation, railroad freight cars must travel about 6 per cent farther on the average haul.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Wigwag

Frequently the Navy, the Coast Guard and the Signal Corps finds it expedient to relay messages without benefit of telephone, telegraph or radio. That is when the semaphore system is employed.

Like a single flag in the "Wigwag" system, the purchase of a War Savings Stamp or Bond, in itself has an infinitesimal effect upon the entire war effort, but when 130 million determined people set their minds to make our War Bond drives successful, the result is anything but infinitesimal. *U. IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL

SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

PETER COMFORTS PERSECUTED CHRISTIANS

LESSON TEXT—I Peter 3:13-17; 4:12-16; 5:6-10.

GOLDEN TEXT—For it is better, if the will of God be so, that ye suffer for well doing, than for evil-doing.—I Peter 3:17.

What shall we do? Where shall we turn? Is there no help for us? Such are the natural and understandable cries of those who bear the heavy heartbreak of persecution. God's Word has the answer, for from the very beginning the followers of Christ have had to meet that problem.

Peter is especially the apostle of comfort, and the portion now before us is rich in helpful instruction. Each word to persecuted people is threefold.

I. Do Not Be Afraid—Christ Is Lord (3:13-17).

By doing good the Christian will escape much suffering (v. 13), but if even then it comes, he is not to be afraid (v. 14). He is to sanctify Christ in his heart, that is, fully recognize the holiness of Christ and all that He is and can do for him. This is to be done in his heart. That means the exercise of full faith in Christ the Lord as the indwelling Presence. Who then can be afraid?

Note that this is not just a subjective spiritual exercise for his own enjoyment—it will show in his "good end, the change can be properly interpreted only through recognition of what has gone before, and the attainments of various maximum records if of too recent occurance to be obscured by present tendencies."

That is like whipping an ounce of castile soap into a bushel of suds.—Imperial Magazine.

WAAC Seeking Volunteers

Lynchburg, June 3.- Lt. Marcel Slattery of the WAAC Recruiting Station in Lynchburg, spent Tuesday of this week in Appomattox, working with the Civilian Committee for Recruiting WAAC's.

Mrs. Joel Flood, chairman of the Civilian Committee, called the meeting of members so that Lt Slattery could outline the new requirements and opportunities offered in the WAAC. Just recently, Lt. Slattery said, the educational requirements were raised to a minimum of two years of high school.

Where a year ago the WAAC organization was just a bill before Congress, today the WAAC is 60,000 members strong, the Committee was told, and 90,000 more members are needed by the first of July. Naturally, Virginia has part of this large quota to part, and the Civilian Committees being set up throughout the State are the answer to the problem of how to contact eligible women.

Mrs. Flood and her committee are personally contacting every woman who falls within the ages of 21 to 45, and who has either financial responsibilities nor dependents. Mrs. Flood said that she had made an effort to find the potential WAAC power of Appomattox.

Lt. Slattery will be back in Appomattox shortly, which include: in order to talk with the women in the Civilian Committee who are interested in interesting in the WAAC.

Lt. Slattery, who, with WAAC Corporal Merle Fletcher has taken over the Recruiting Station in Lynchburg, can be reached through Mrs. Joel Flood in Appomattox, or through the other members of the Civilian Committee, which include: Mrs. J. Raymond Lawson, Mrs. C. H. Robinson, Mrs. Eleanor Dahl, Mrs. J. A. Burke, Mrs. E. A. Powers, Mrs. H. A Garney, Mrs. B. G. Anderson, Mrs. C. G. O'Brien, Mrs. R. D. Marks, Mrs. Ryland Hann, Mary Trent and Miss Flora Belle Williams.

PRISONERS AT STATE PEN GIVEN EDUCATION

Richmond, June 2. (By VPA)- "Four walls do not a prison make, nor iron bars a cage" is certainly true for 100 inmates of the State Penitentiary in their quest for the light of knowledge. Diplomas were issued yesterday on completion of their elementary schooling as "graduates of instruction in the 3-R's.

This year's graduating class is composed of men of all ages and races who never learned to read or write in the outside world. Education for the fifth grade level is compulsory for all illiterates at the prison. Advanced education above the fifth grade is optional for those who wish to make further study on a voluntary basis.

Canada Training Powerful Norwegian Air Force

Norwegian trainers (above) in flight over Canada. (At right) Armed with rifle and bayonet, this young Norwegian flyer guards the Headquarters of his command. The Royal Norwegian coat of arms has been placed above the doorway.

A POWERFUL Norwegian Air Force has been mustered and trained in Canada and awaits the day of revenge.

In spite of the fact that Norway was one of the first countries to come under the German heel it has now built an air force equipped and trained in Canada more powerful than it possessed before the war.

The new air force is supported largely by revenue from the Norwegian Merchant Marine which escaped the clutches of the Nazis.

Camp Little Norway has been established in Ontario and here, amid rustic cabins that remind them of their home land, the traditional life of Norway is carried on by the young men and women who are training and working to wrest their country from the Nazis.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Glad we ran into you, Judge. I was just tryin' to set Helen straight on this business about sugar. I wish you'd tell her what you told me last night down at lodge."

"Glad to, Jim. I told him, Helen, that there's not a single bit of truth to the rumor that the distillers use sugar in making whiskey. They make it exclusively from grain. Only bootleggers use sugar to make whiskey. I read an article in the paper just last week that goes to prove it. It told how a confessed bootlegger in a Federal court testified to the fact that another bootlegger, also on trial, had bought a million pounds of sugar a few years ago.

"As a matter of fact, Helen, no distiller is making whiskey today and hasn't for many months. All distillers are working night and day producing war alcohol for the government. And they make every drop of it exclusively from grain, too."

Father Darkleat

Doctor James, Appomattox popular druggist, says that gasoline is too precious these days to see go to waste. The other day, he tells, he saw a car parked outside with gasoline dripping from a too-full tank. He rushed out with a empty tank and soon had a pint of gas and otherwise would have wasted it use street.

It takes 100 gallons of gas an hour to run one of our big bombing planes, the government says. The real effort to bomb Germany out of the war is just begging. If it works, the lives of a million of our boys with rifles will be saved. The gas for the air war must come from Eastern seaboard. The choice is between our pleasure and the lives of our lives overseas. Is your decision hard to make?

We miss from our columns the newsy letters that used to be sent in by our friend, the late Mr. W. W. Farrar, of Evergreen.

Our Congressman, Hon. Patrick H. Drewry, was the speaker at Memorial Day exercises Sunday at Camp Pickett, attended by 25,000 Camp Pickett. We might also mention that Mr. Drewry mailed us a copy of an address he recently made in Congress in opposition to the bill to do away with poll taxes.

RAYMOND, N. However, in prospecting over the area, Smith discovered large deposits of excellent quality mica and feldspar. He's already signed a remunerative contract with a mining company for rights to the land and expects the return will be higher than if it simply returned cord wood.
